Phillips, DiPisa & Associates Announces the Opening of Its Philadelphia Office

HINGHAM, MA, August 16, 2017 – Phillips, DiPisa & Associates, an executive search firm serving the healthcare sector, announced today that it has opened a Philadelphia office to better serve their clients in the Mid-Atlantic Region.

Founded in Boston, Massachusetts in 1994, Phillips DiPisa has since expanded to Atlanta, Chicago, Los Angeles, and now Philadelphia. The nationally respected firm is known for its impressive portfolio of healthcare leadership contacts across the country. Phillips DiPisa's new presence in Pennsylvania expands that reach and builds a bridge between the state's dynamic and innovative healthcare market and the firm's proven expertise in executive search.

"Pennsylvania's expansion of its Medicaid population, coupled with its adoption of new payment and delivery systems, has resulted in transformational changes among providers throughout the state," said Phillips DiPisa Founding Partner Dan Phillips. "We know that we'll now be able to work more closely with provider clients in Pennsylvania to bring them the qualified candidates to help lead their organizations through the ever-evolving and sometimes turbulent changes that are occurring."

Ralph DiPisa, Partner, added, "While we are currently active in Pennsylvania – with a high success rate of completing leadership searches for our clients there – establishing a physical presence in the state allows us to be more nimble in responding to the current and continuing turnover rate of healthcare executives that is occurring not only in the Keystone State but across the U.S."

Phillips DiPisa's seasoned staff of executive search professionals have demonstrated success in meeting the challenges of the current healthcare environment, from helping their clients promote diversity in the workplace, to finding in-demand physician leaders for executive roles, to assisting hospitals hire the executives who understand the new realities of accountable care and population health – among many other challenges.
